Synopsis

After spending years in prison, Allal emerges with a determination to reclaim his share of a robbery he committed in his youth alongside Mehdi Hamzawi. However, he soon discovers that Mehdi is not just an ordinary man; he leads a double life, presenting himself both as Mehdi and as Sattouf, a beggar navigating the streets. This revelation sets the stage for a deepening conflict between the two men, as Allal's demands clash with Mehdi's complicated existence. The struggle escalates, ultimately turning both of their lives upside down and forcing them to confront the consequences of their past actions and the choices they must make for their futures.
